About Waterboro

Waterboro is a town in York County, Maine with approximately 7,000 residents. The first permanent settler was Capt. John Smith who came from Kittery in 1768. Originally known as Massabesic Plantation, the Town was incorporated in 1787. Waterboro is currently governed by a town meeting-Board of Selectmen charter. The town includes the villages of North, South and East Waterboro, in addition to the village of Lake Arrowhead, which comprises about one third of Waterboro’s population.

Waterboro has a total area of about 57 square miles including 1.8 square miles of water. Its largest body of water is Little Ossipee Lake which covers about 564 acres and its highest point is Ossipee Mountain which reaches 1,058 feet above sea level. Located on the mountain is a fire tower which is listed on the National Historic Lookout Register and controlled by the Waterboro Fire Department.

Waterboro is crossed by U.S. Route 202 and state routes 4 and 5. It borders the towns of Alfred to the southwest, and Lyman to the southeast, Hollis to the northeast, Limerick and Limington to the north, Newfield to the northwest, and Shapleigh to the west. (See map on pages 24-25.)

Biking & Hiking Trails

OSSISPEE MOUNTAIN LOOP

Mountain biking or hiking, this 3.5 mile loop challenges your endurance, and toward the end of the ride tests your ability as a mountain biker. A maintained gravel access road climbs up and along the side of Ossipee Mountain. Climb a paved road that loops you back to the trail that brought you past Ossipee Mountain. After retracing familiar terrain back to McLucas Road, you can climb up to the fire tower and enjoy the spectacular views from the top of Ossipee Mountain. Continue down the access road back to the start of the ride. Top elevation 950 feet. Duration 2 hours biking. Location center: 43.586°N 70.713°W

LAKE ARROWHEAD DAM LOOP

The 9.6 mile loop starts and finishes by the shallow water of Lake Arrowhead off New Dam Road near the dam. Warm up on an unmaintained gravel cut-through road before a bit of pavement sends you around to the dirt again. Once off the tarmac, a secluded ride along the Never-ending Trail begins. Things soon point up for about a mile, which makes the moderate grade more strenuous than might be expected. After the long climb, one steep difficult downhill is part of the loop. It deserves caution and attention. Top elevation 510 feet. Duration is 1.5 hours. Location center: 43.665°N 70.721°W

THE MASSABESIC EXPERIMENTAL FOREST

Owned and operated by the USDA Forest Service this 6 mile-long hiking trail consists of 3600 acres in both Alfred and Lyman (York County). For walking dogs off-leash, use the Northern Unit near Lyman. This plot is over 1 mile wide and 3+ miles long. A nice gravel road runs through the middle of the property, and ends at Roberts Pond. Duration is 2.5 hours. Location center: 43.5716°N 70.6787°W

BACK COUNTRY EXCURSIONS - PARSONSFIELD

An outstanding beginner/intermediate ride on terrain dedicated to mountain biking, this 7-mile loop is comprised of three single-track trails and a long section of double-track all connected by fire roads. From laid-back loops to stomach-churning single-tracks, there are rides here for every age and skill level, including a terrain park. The terrain lies at the foothills of the White Mountains in the midst of a 10,000-acre semi-wilderness preserve crisscrossed by fire roads and the trail network cut and maintained by the Back Country staff. Duration is 2 hours. Location center: 43.7186°N 70.9368°W
